ABSTRACT

Information is presented on 1981-1982 enrollments, faculty, degrees, student finances, and institutional finances at the 41 private, predominantly black colleges and universities that are members of the United Negro College Fund. Data and narrative analyses are presented on the following: fall 1981 enrollment, first-time student enrollments, college applications, freshman academic profile, nonblack students, the proportion of women to men, geographic distribution of students by region, size of the faculty, faculty rank and degrees held, faculty racial composition, faculty salaries, total undergraduate and graduate degrees, fields of study, annual parental income, student financial aid, average cost to students, institutional revenues and expenditures, and total endowment. Appendices provide data by institution for 1977-1981, as well as the following additional information: entering freshmen by high school rank, number of students with Spanish surnames, geographic distribution of students by state and major cities, enrollment of foreign students by country, faculty turnover and tenure, numbers of dual-degree engineering students, alumni contributions, and institutional financial aid allocations. Acknowledgements

Acknowledgement is gratefully given to Mr. Christopher F. Edley, Executive Director of the United Negro College Fund, for his thoughtful interest and advice; to Mrs. Yvonne Parris for compiling and calculating the data; to William Wood, Harriet Schimel and Kathleen Payne for proofreading the manuscript and to the UNCF Word Processing Center for typing the manuscript. Particular thanks are extended to the numerous personnel at the member institutions who responded to the UNCF Questionnaire. In spite of all this high caliber support, some mistakes and oversights are bound to have escaped detection, and they, of course, are our own responsibility.

INTRODUCTION

The United Negro College Fund's Annual Statistical Report is a compilation of the most recent statistical information on its forty-two member institutions. All the member institutions are private, accredited, predominantly black colleges and universities. Forty of the member institutions offer baccalaureate programs, while two (Atlanta University and the Interdenominational Theological Center) offer graduate degree studies exclusively. Several of the member institutions, including Fisk, Tuskegee and Xavier, offer graduate programs in addition to their undergraduate curricula.

Public and private historically black colleges (HBC's) compose fewer than 4% of all institutions of higher education in the United States, yet they enroll 20.1% of all blacks attending college. Of over 3,000 colleges and universities nationwide, 99 are considered historically black. Of these, 41 are public and 58 are private; 84 are four-year institutions. Of the 84 four-year HBC's, 50 are private and 34 are public. Forty-two of the fifty four-year private HBC's are member institutions of the United Negro College Fund.

Total black enrollment in higher education in fall 1980 was 1,106,321, with 198,572 or 18% enrolled in HBC's. Almost 68% of the students enrolled in HBC's attended public HBC's (134,079), while approximately 32% (64,493) attended private HBC's. Of the 64,493 enrolled in private HBC's in 1980, 44,667 or 69.3% attended United Negro College Fund member institutions.

More than 40% of blacks enrolled in higher education in 1980 attended two-year institutions, while the remainder attended four-year colleges and universities. With regard to UNCF colleges, 7.0% of Blacks enrolled in four-year colleges in 1980 were enrolled in UNCF institutions.

In recent years, much speculation has taken place regarding the future of private black colleges as increasing numbers of black students have enrolled at predominantly white two- and four-year colleges. One might have expected to find black colleges playing a progressively less significant role in black higher education in the seventies. However, throughout the decade, the private black colleges have continued their long and virtually uninterrupted historical growth.

The forty-two UNCF member institutions have special significance because of their traditional and continuing role in educating minority group students for productive and creative participation in American life. During the past century, the private black colleges have provided education otherwise unavailable to thousands of able and deserving youth. Most of the black leadership in America today is provided by the alumni of these institutions.

Method:

The statistical information included was obtained from the UNCF Questionnaire which is sent annually to each of the member institutions, as well as from data supplied by the American College Testing Program and the College Entrance Examination Board profiles on prospective UNCF freshman who have requested one or more of their scores be sent to UNCF colleges. Enrollment data used in the report are based on the fall of each academic year to facilitate comparisons with other institutions.

Fall enrollment data exclude summer school students and students who did not enroll until the spring semester. Total enrollment at UNCF institutions, including summer school and additional spring semester students, is approximately 45,000 students.

ENROLLMENT

Fall 1981 Enrollment

The repercussions of current economic trends are already beginning to affect college enrollment, particularly enrollment at independent institutions. From the fall of 1980 to the fall of 1981, college enrollment at independent colleges declined 2.7%.¹ And though college enrollment nationwide increased 1.9%, this was "due almost entirely to a substantial gain in enrollment at two-year colleges."²

UNCF colleges did not suffer as heavy a loss in enrollment as did other independent colleges. Fall enrollment at the 41 UNCF colleges in 1981 totalled 43,828 students, with a decline of 1.9% or 839 students from the previous year (Appendix A). With Morris College's admission to the College Fund, total enrollment of the 42 colleges rose to 44,486, showing a decline of only .4%, or 181 students from the year before.

Fourteen UNCF colleges reported increases in fall enrollment, while 2 colleges reported totals equivalent to those of the fall of 1980. More than half of UNCF's 42 institutions reported decreased enrollments in September 1981, and 37 of the colleges would have liked to increase their student bodies. Five institutions were satisfied with their total enrollment figures. Among those desiring increased enrollments, the desired percentage increase averaged 12% (Appendix B).

Freshman enrollment at UNCF colleges increased an encouraging 1%, from 12,133 in the fall of 1980 to 12,248 in the fall of 1981 (Appendix C). Nationally, freshman enrollment at private colleges declined by 2%. As reported by The Chronicle of Higher Education:

Officials of the National Institute of Independent Colleges and Universities said their survey indicated that uncertainty about student aid clearly affected freshmen enrollment.

Federal budget cuts in student aid adversely affected freshman enrollment at private colleges nationwide. However, the increase in freshman enrollment at UNCF colleges in the fall of 1981 could be accounted for by these institutions' reputations for providing comprehensive financial aid packages.

Admissions

The number of first-time students offered admission to the 41 institutions in 1981 rose sharply by 2,339 to 23,333 (Appendix C). There was, however, a 3.0% decrease in the number of completed applications received at the 41 colleges, from 31,542 to 30,579. The decline in completed applications, like the decrease in enrollment, could be due, in part, to prospective students' uncertainty over the availability of financial aid for the fall 1981 semester.

Even though the colleges received fewer applications in 1981, a larger percentage of those applicants went on to enroll than in 1980. Forty percent of this year's freshman applicants enrolled, compared to 38.4% in the fall of 1980. In the competition for enrolling new students, UNCF colleges came out significantly ahead of other private colleges in 1981.

Freshman Academic Profile

This section contains the results of the College Board and the American College Testing Program surveys of prospective UNCF freshmen.⁴ These high school seniors were asked to answer a questionnaire designed to determine their academic backgrounds, college aspirations, and career goals.

The typical UNCF freshman attended a public, predominantly black high school and graduated in the top half of his/her high school class. Fifty-three percent of the 1982 entering freshman class graduated in the top half, compared to 52% the year before. In both 1980 and 1981, 15% of the freshman classes graduated in the upper ten percent of their high school classes (Appendix D).

Over half of the prospective UNCF freshmen carried a B- average in high school while studying just under 4 years of English, and 3 or more years of mathematics and social studies. Almost half of these students studied 2 to 5 years of a foreign language, as well as 2 or more years of science. Fifty-six percent took accelerated or honors courses in English; 20% in mathematics; 14% in social studies; and 19% in the natural sciences.

Fifty percent of prospective UNCF students plan to earn an advanced degree, compared to 43% of the students at private colleges nationally. Of the total, 28.9% expect to complete one or more years of graduate study (MA, MBA, etc.), compared to a national norm of 25.8%. Twenty-one percent anticipate earning a professional-level degree (PhD, MD, LLB, JD, etc.), compared to the national norm of 17.6%.

Degree-Level Goals Prospective Freshmen 1982

	UNCF Students	Students Nationally
Two-year Training Program	2.8%	3.0%
Two-year college degree	1.8%	2.3%
Bachelor's degree	25.2%	32.2%
1 or 2 years of graduate study (MA, MBA, etc.)	28.9%	25.8%
Professional-level degree (PHD., MD, LLB, JD, etc.)	21.3%	17.6%
Other	17.0%	19.1%
Graduate Study	50.2%	43.4%

Business and commerce was the intended field of study for 27.9% of prospective UNCF freshmen. Only 22.4% of the prospective freshmen at 4-year colleges nationally planned to major in business. The second most frequently chosen major area was physical science, selected by 21.9% of the upcoming UNCF class.

Engineering is an increasingly popular field for UNCF students. Nine percent of prospective UNCF students plan to major in engineering (Appendix E).

When asked about their vocational choices, 20% of prospective UNCF freshmen selected business and commerce as their first vocational choice, and 20% chose the health professions. These preferences were comparable to national norms where business and commerce also ranked as first vocational choice.

Nonblack Students

White student enrollment declined proportionately to the decline in overall enrollment at the UNCF colleges. In the fall of 1981, 444 white students were enrolled, down 2.2% from 454 in the fall of 1980. Of the white students enrolled, about one-third were male and two-thirds female (Appendix F).

Last fall, about 1%, or 375 UNCF students, were of Hispanic descent (Appendix G).

Male - Female

The proportion of women to men students at UNCF colleges has remained fairly constant over the last decade. In all, 55.7% of the students enrolled at UNCF colleges in the fall of 1981 were female, 44.3% were male (Appendix H). This breaks down to an undergraduate enrollment that is 56.0% female and 44.0% male and a graduate enrollment that is 50.8% male and 49.2% female. Nationally, the recent trend has also been for slightly more women than men to attend college.

UNCF Students by Sex 1981-82

Year	Female	Male
Fall 1972	54.6%	45.4%
Fall 1974	54.0%	46.0%
Fall 1976	53.9%	46.1%
Fall 1978	55.4%	44.6%
Fall 1980	55.5%	44.5%
Fall 1981	55.7%	44.3%

Geographical Distribution

The proportion of UNCF students from the Southeast continues to decline, as it has steadily for the last decade. In the fall of 1981, 65.1% of all UNCF students were from the Southeast, compared with 67.4% the previous year. The enrollment of students from both the Central and Western regions declined somewhat, from 8.5% to 8.3% and from 7.2% to 7.0% respectively (Appendix I).

Increasingly, UNCF students are not residents of the states where they choose to go to college. In the fall of 1980, about 60% of UNCF students were in-state residents. In the fall of 1981, 57% of the students were in-state, about 36% were out-of-state, and almost 8% were foreign students (Appendix K). UNCF colleges enroll 23,600 students from the 156 major cities where the College Fund conducts fund-raising campaigns (Appendix K).

The enrollment at UNCF colleges has also become increasingly international. In the fall of 1981, the proportion of foreign students was 7.5%, an increase of 1.8% from the year before. Students from over 55 countries attended UNCF colleges. Over 46% of the foreign students at UNCF colleges are from African nations. Another 23% are from Caribbean countries, and about 16% are from the Middle East (Appendix L).

FACULTY

This section is an analysis of the UNCF faculty in terms of size, rank, degrees held, racial composition, and salary.

Total Faculty

The number of full-time equivalent (F.T.E.) faculty at UNCF institutions decreased 3.5% or by 107 faculty members in 1981-82, to a total of 2,942 faculty. Although Morris College brings 47 professors to the total F.T.E. faculty, this figure was still down 60 members, or 1.9%, to 2,989 for 1981-1982 (Appendix M). The 3.5% reduction in faculty corresponds to a 1.9% decline in enrollment for the 41 colleges reporting in both 1980-81 and 1981-82.

Faculty turnover is one measure of economic retrenchment at colleges and universities. In 1980-81, 13% of the combined UNCF faculty resigned their teaching positions. New appointments, however, totalled only 12% of combined faculty, making a shortfall of 1% for the year (Appendix N).

With these fluctuations in faculty and student enrollment, the 1981-82's student-faculty ratio was 15:1 compared to the national average of 16:1 at comparably-sized private liberal arts colleges in the United States.

From 1980 to 1981, the percentage of nonblack faculty rose from 35.8% to 36.4% at the 42 colleges. The percentage of black faculty at UNCF institutions, meanwhile, dropped from 64.2% to 63.6%. Over a period of one year, the shift in racial composition of faculty for the 42 colleges was .6% of total faculty (Appendix M).

Faculty By Degree

The last four years have shown a marked increase in the number of UNCF faculty holding doctorates. The chart below shows a 12% increase from 1970 to 1982. Moreover, 906, or 30.7%, of the almost 3,000 people teaching at UNCF colleges are tenured (Appendix N).

UNCF Faculty With Doctorates

Year	Percent With Doctorates
1970	31%
1974	40.2%
1978	40.2%
1982	43.0% (41 colleges) ²

Faculty Distribution By Subject Areas

The curricula at UNCF colleges are divided into six major subject areas which reflect the colleges' liberal arts missions. The humanities are the largest division. One-quarter of all UNCF faculty teach courses in these disciplines. Another 20% teach in the natural sciences and mathematics. Education and social sciences engage 14% each of the faculty at UNCF colleges. Twelve percent of the faculty are assigned to business and 4% give instruction in the fine arts (Appendix O).

Faculty Salaries

There were substantial increases in faculty salaries during 1981-82 with the largest percentage increase benefiting the upper ranks of the scale. This contrasts with last year's salary increases which showed the greatest percentage increase at the lower end of the pay scale (Appendix P).

UNCF Faculty Salaries 1980-81 and 1981-82

Rank	1980-81	1981-82	Percent Change
Professor	$18,623	$20,149	+8.2%
Assoc. Prof.	15,988	17,177	+7.4%
Asst. Prof.	14,215	15,237	+7.2%
Instructor	12,167	12,825	+5.4%
Average	$15,248	$16,347	+7.2%

Pay increases for UNCF faculty averaged 7.2% over 1980-81. However, 1981-82's pay raises ranging from 5.4% to 8.2%, still averaged below the inflationary rate of 7.8%³ during the period of September, 1981, to May, 1982. Consequently, the estimated purchasing power of UNCF faculty salaries for all ranks dropped .6% in real terms.

UNCF faculty earned, on the average, only 85% of their national counterparts' salaries during 1981-82. Associate professors earned the least on a percentage scale (81% of associate professors nationally), while assistant professors earned the most proportionately (91% of their peers on a national scale).

Salaries: UNCF and Private Liberal Arts Colleges Nationally, 1981-1982⁴

DEGREES GRANTED

Total Undergraduate and Graduate Degrees

The total number of degrees conferred at UNCF colleges decreased 3.0% during 1980-81 from 6,744 to 6,539 (Appendix Q). However, this figure did not represent as great a decline as last year's 4.1% reduction in total degrees granted. Nationally, the total number of degrees conferred increased 1.0% from 1979-80 to 1980-81.

The number of bachelors degrees conferred by UNCF colleges declined by 3.5%, while the number of doctorates dropped by 30%.

Fields of Study

In the field of business, the most popular major, the number of earned degrees rose 6.6% from a total of 1,633 to 1,733 in 1980-81. Degrees in business accounted for more than one-quarter (27.1%) of all degrees granted by UNCF colleges. At private four-year colleges across the country, business accounted for 23.3% of all earned degrees in 1980-81.

Degrees in communications rose 10.6% (20 students), and accounted for 3.1% of all degrees granted, while degrees earned in psychology rose 21% (45 students) and accounted for 3.9% of all degrees. In the physical sciences, degrees earned rose 7.3% to a total of 191 and accounted for 2.9% of all awarded degrees, comparable to the nationwide figure of 3.0% earned physical science degrees.

Traditionally popular fields experienced slight declines. Degrees earned in the health professions still accounted for 4.1% of all UNCF degrees while education accounted for 18.7% of all degrees earned. In the social sciences, degrees granted were 19.3% of total degrees, or 1,267 of the cumulative total of 6,539 degrees granted (Appendix R) across the country.

Biological Sciences	5.9%	5.4%
Social Sciences	19.3%	13.3%
Other	18.9%	36.9%
	100.0%	100.0%

Total degrees awarded in the dual-degree engineering program rose 20.3% from 167 to a total of 201 in 1980-81. Dual-degree engineering programs were offered last year by twenty-six UNCF colleges in conjunction with several dozen engineering institutions. Freshman enrollment in the program last year increased 1.9%, while junior enrollment was up 2.5%. During 1980-81, this program enrolled 1,190 students, a slight decline of 2.3%, or 29 students, from the year before (Appendix S).

Alumni

Almost a quarter of a million students have graduated from UNCF colleges since the founding of the oldest. During 1980-81, individual alumni and alumni groups donated almost $3 million to their alma maters, in addition to the hundreds of thousands of dollars that these groups and individuals gave to UNCF (Appendix T).

STUDENT FINANCES

Student Financial Profile

Having identified in the freshmen academic profile the typical prospective UNCF student, how does he or she compare financially with the national average prospective college student? Nearly half (44.3%) of UNCF prospective freshmen declared their family incomes to be under $12,000 per year, while only 13.7% of the families of all college-bound freshmen fell into that category. In 1981, the average black family was living on an income of $13,226, only 56.4% of the $23,520 that supported the average white family². For the families of prospective UNCF freshmen, the average or median family income was $13,700 in 1982, compared to the $26,800 average family income for college freshmen nationally.

Median Family Income	$13,700	$26,800
Mean Parental Contribution	$ 1,000	$ 2,520
Median Parental Contribution	$ 0	$ 1,160

Approximately 90% of the students enrolled in UNCF institutions in 1980-81 received some type of financial assistance (Appendix U). In 1982, the formula of the College Board's College Scholarship Service reported that the median expected parental contribution toward the college education of a prospective UNCF freshman was $0, compared to $1,160 for prospective freshmen nationally. In 1981-82, a cumulative 92.4% of all UNCF prospective freshmen expected to apply for financial aid compared to only 76% of all freshmen nationally.

Student Financial Aid

During 1980-81, the most significant aid source was the Pell Grant awarded to 73% of all UNCF students. Formerly titled the Basic Educational Opportunity Grant (BEOG), the Pell Grant allocated a total of $45,898,521 in 1980-81 ($89,629 more than in the previous year) to 32,565 students, 396 more than in 1979-80. The slight .2% increase in financial allocations had to accommodate a 1.2% increase in the number of students receiving this grant. Consequently, individual grants decreased 1% from an average of $1,424 per grant to $1,409. Pell Grant funds accounted for 39% of all financial aid money awarded to UNCF students (Appendix T).

College Work-Study, at $18,132,717, is the second largest financial assistance program for UNCF students and the single largest employment program at the 42 colleges. In 1980-81, 44% of all students at UNCF colleges earned financial assistance through Work-Study. A total of 19,355 students (a decline of 6.1% from last year) earned average grants of $937 during the year, up 5% from $892 the year before. Seventy-two percent of this year's prospective freshmen expected to work during the academic year, compared to 58% of the national average.

The Supplementary Educational Opportunity Grants (SEOG) assisted 38% of all UNCF students during 1980-81. Awards totalled $11,997,405, up 1.7% from $11,802,304 in 1979-80. From 1979-80 to 1980-81, the size of the average grant rose 1.2%, from $707 to $716.

Institutional and state scholarships were other substantial sources of financial aid for UNCF students. Institutional scholarships totalled $10,537,054 during 1980-81, up 1.2% from $9,393,418 the previous year. The number of students receiving institutional scholarships was down by 1,066 students, or 12.4%, to 7,506 in one year. Institutional scholarships assisted 17% of all students at the 42 institutions and averaged $1,403 per grant. State scholarships in 1980-81 totalled $11,357,004, up 1.8% from $9,654,015 the year before. However, the number of students receiving these scholarships rose by 15.3%, or 2,073 students, to 15,618 students. Over the period 1979-80 to 1980-81, the average state grant rose only $14 to $727.

Loans accounted for $15,105,252 granted to UNCF students for college expenses during 1980-81. The National Direct Student Loan was supplemental assistance for 23% of all UNCF students. Total loans equalled $7,487,454 and were extended to 10,389 students. The average loan was $720. The Guaranteed Student Loan, granted to 4,438 students, or 10% of total enrollment, totalled $7,617,908 and averaged $1,717 per loan. Veterans Benefits assisted 431 students, or .1%, with average grants of $1,886.

During 1980-81, a total of $117,583,210 in financial assistance was granted to eligible students at UNCF institutions. This represents an increase of $8,960,104, or 8.2% from the year before, a figure which surpasses the 7.8% rate of inflation, but does not keep pace with the overall 10.6% increase in the cost of attending a UNCF college in 1980-81.

Average Cost to Students

This year's 1981-82 tuition increase was 10.6%, from $2,169 to $2,399 (Appendix V). This increase is far below that of the previous year's tuition increase of 14.9%, and below the 13.1% increase in tuition at private 4-year colleges nationally. During 1981-82, UNCF institutions' tuition costs were only 64.6% of the $3,709 charged by their institutional peers.

Average room and board this year increased 12.6% to $1,604 compared to last year's total of $1,425. The cost of room and board at UNCF colleges is still only 78.5% of these expenses at equivalent colleges nationally. The cost of books and supplies increased 12.4% in 1981-82 from $249 to this year's estimate of $280.

Books and Supplies	249	280	+12.4%
Total	$3,843	$4,283	+11.4%

The average cost of attending a UNCF institution during 1980-81 was only 71.2% of what it cost to attend the average 4-year private college in this country. For 1982-83, the projected tuition increase shows that UNCF students will still pay only 66.2% of what their peers pay for tuition at equivalent colleges nationally.

INSTITUTIONAL FINANCES

In 1979-80, it was reported that thirteen of the 41 colleges, or 32.5%, operated under budget deficits. During 1980-81, nineteen of the 42 colleges, or 42.2%, operated under budget deficits.

The average expenditures per institution were $6,318,687 in 1980-81 down $809,710, or 11.3%, from the previous year. The average revenue per institution was $6,530,485, a decrease of $652,190, or 9.9%, from $7,182,675 during 1979-80 (Appendix W). Nationally, total revenues for current operations for private colleges increased 19.4% in fiscal year 1980, while expenses went up 13%.

Expenditures

Figures for 1980-81 show that the single largest expense for the 42 colleges was the 27% that went for instructional expenses, i.e., faculty salaries (Appendix X). This figure shows a 2% decrease from the previous year. Private institutions on a national level spent 41.1% of their operating budgets on instruction² in fiscal year 1980 according to the Minter-Bowen Study of American higher education.

Institutional support, "which includes general administrative services and legal and fiscal operations,"³ accounted for 22% of Educational and General Expenditures, up only 1% from 1979-80. Plant operation and maintenance, and scholarships and fellowships, each required an average 12% of the budgets at UNCF colleges. Nationally, private institutions spent only 10.1% of their budgets on plant operation and maintenance, and none on scholarships and fellowships.

Student services at UNCF colleges received an average 9% of all expenditures, while academic support received 7%. Research was allocated 3% of all expenditures compared to private institutions which spent 17.8% of all expenditures on research. Public service received 3%, and 6% went to miscellaneous outlays at UNCF institutions.⁴

Revenues

In 1980-81, UNCF institutions received a slightly higher percentage of their incomes from tuition and fees than they did in 1979-80. Thirty-five percent of current operating revenues came from tuition and fees, up from 33% in 1979-80. Private institutions nationally received 32% of their incomes from this source in fiscal year 1980 (Appendix Y).

Federal grants and contracts provided 23% of UNCF revenues in 1980-81 compared to private colleges nationally which received 16.6% of their revenues from the federal government. State governments provided UNCF colleges and their national counterparts 1% and 6.6% of their current operating incomes, respectively.

Endowment income accounted for 4% of all revenues at UNCF institutions, while private colleges nationally received 7% of their income from endowment.⁶ Private gifts and grants were 17% of all income at UNCF institutions. At private colleges nationally, private gifts and grants were only 10.2% of income in fiscal year 1980.

Total Endowment

Comparable to those of last year, revenues received from endowment were 4% of general revenues at UNCF colleges in 1980-81. Total endowments increased by $14,310,925, or 10.8%, to a total of $147,254,159 in 1980-81 (Appendix Z).

In addition to the dollar increase in endowments, enrollment at colleges decreased, thus causing the average endowment per student to rise 9.2% from $3,028 to $3,309, a figure still well below that of the national average of $8,672 at small private 4-year colleges.
